About Us

The Association of Government Accountants (AGA) Boston Chapter believes that its members first and foremost serve the public interest in accordance with the highest ethical principles. This Code of Ethics is both a standard of behavior to aspire to and a guide for making ethical decisions.

Who We Are

The Boston Chapter was the fifth AGA chapter, established in 1954, and it has 298 professionals from federal, state and local governments, public accounting firms, colleges and universities, and private firms. The chapter's membership also includes students, those self-employed, and retired. Many members hold advanced degrees as well as professional certifications such as Certified Public Accountant (CPA), Certified Government Financial Manager (CGFM), and Certified Fraud Examiner (CFE).

Organization of Chapter

The Boston Chapter elects the president-elect, secretary, treasurer, vice president for education and programs, vice president for planning, and vice president for communications. The president selects chapter directors.

Objectives

Our code of conduct recognizes that the objectives of the government financial management profession are to work at the highest standards of professionalism, attain the highest levels of performance and generally meet the public interest requirement set out above. These objectives require that four basic needs be met:

- Credibility: Society needs credibility in government information and information systems.
- Professionalism: The public, employers, clients, and other interested parties need to easily identify professionals in the government financial management field.
- Quality of Services: The public needs the assurance that all services obtained from a government financial manager are carried out to the highest standards of performance.
- Confidence: Users of the services of government financial managers should be able to feel confident that there is a framework of professional ethics that governs the provision of those services.

Independent Audit

An independent audit report of the chapter's finances was generated and reviewed by chapter leadership. For monthly fund balances and complete financial information, please visit our chapter website at www.agaboston.org and select "Newsletter" for a current fiscal status.

Chapter Executive Committee Emphasis

The chapter leadership and executive committee during the annual transition develop a vision that aligns with the strategic plan. The vision demonstrates the passion, professionalism and dedication of the membership.

- Increase young members. We want to reach out to students and young accountability professionals to get them interested in public service and join AGA. We will visit as many Beta Alpha Psi (accounting and auditing honors society) chapters in Massachusetts as possible.
- Forge partnerships with other New England chapters. Chapters in Maine and Connecticut, along with members in the rest of New England do not have the educational opportunities we have in Boston. We will offer on-line replay streaming and webinars to allow regional participation.
- Ensure continuity and growth. The Chapter has a robust history of leadership. Like our beloved Boston Red Sox, who embody the spirit of teamwork to achieve their current success, we will continue to encourage teamwork requesting that the Chapter members become involved in the Chapter and help us with process improvements and suggestions for program events and speakers.

Leadership Perspective

The Boston Chapter will be striving to engage current and new members in our Chapter Executive Committee (CEC) and the related Chapter committees. Chapter “succession planning”, along with “leadership development,” is critical to our Chapter’s well-being and meeting our short/long-term goals. We will be looking for individuals who can be relied upon, who display a great deal of enthusiasm and who have demonstrated and will successfully take on responsibility. This is an opportunity for future leaders to be identified.

Regional Professional Development Training

The Boston Chapter’s Regional Professional Development Training (RPDT) is a stalwart example of professional development. In 2019, attendees can earn certificates of professional development from exceptional speakers and topics that advance government accountability.

The 2019 RPDT is scheduled for May 30, 2019 at Bentley University. The agenda and professional development tracks will be listed on the chapter website when confirmed. For more information, please visit www.agaboston.org.
